

5

ABSTRACT

The invention relates to a heating/air conditioning system for a motor vehicle comprising a first fluid circuit having a first heat exchanger, a second fluid circuit having a second heat exchanger, and a third fluid circuit having a third heat exchanger. According to the invention, the second and/or third heat exchanger is connected downstream of the first heat exchanger using air flow technology.

0594808 v.1